RICE

(Regular Interlaboratory Counting Exchanges)

and

United Kingdom Man-Made Mineral Fibre Scheme

Laboratory Classifications

SEPTEMBER 2006

This document contains a list of the names and performance classifications of laboratories which participate in the RICE proficiency testing scheme for the evaluation of airborne fibre concentrations. Participants in the UK MMMF scheme for man-made mineral fibres are also listed.

Both schemes are monitored by the Committee on Fibre Measurement, which is chaired by the Health and Safety Laboratory (HSL) on behalf of the Health and Safety Executive (HSE). The schemes are operated by HSL, which oversees registration and membership matters, and the Institute of Occupational Medicine (IOM), which carries out the procedures for sample supply, results reporting and laboratory classification.

Participation in RICE is a precondition for accreditation of asbestos fibre counting by the United Kingdom Accreditation Service (UKAS). The Control of Asbestos at Work Regulations (2002) require that laboratories employed in the UK to monitor airborne asbestos must conform to the standard ISO 17025. In practice, this means that UKAS accreditation is a regulatory requirement for such laboratories. Current UKAS accreditations for each laboratory may be obtained from the UKAS website at www.ukas.org.

The list is updated after each round of RICE, i.e. at 3- to 4-monthly intervals.

USING THIS LIST

The main list is subdivided by geographical area. If you are looking for laboratories within a particular area, use the table of contents above and turn to the appropriate area. The countries and regions comprising each area are detailed on page iv.

For convenience, an alphabetical index of all the laboratories is given, separately for RICE and for the UK MMMF scheme, from page v onwards. The index shows the geographical area in which each laboratory is located.

The main list gives each laboratory's details as appropriate for each of the following:

- (1) The laboratory name, address, telephone number, fax number and e-mail address.
- (2) The current RICE performance classification: Category 1 (satisfactory), Category 2 (also satisfactory), Category 3 (unsatisfactory) or awaiting classification.
- (3) The previous four RICE performance classifications.
- (4) Whether the laboratory participates in the UK MMMF scheme.
- (5) Whether a fibre counting service is offered to external organisations.

RICE classifications were carried out at IOM on the date shown at top of each page of the list. An outline of the classification procedures is given on page iii.

FURTHER INFORMATION

RICE and UK MMMF performance classifications are administered by IOM. Enquiries regarding classifications (for both schemes) may be made to Mrs Elizabeth McGoldrick, Institute of Occupational Medicine, Research Avenue North, Riccarton, Edinburgh EH14 4AP (Telephone 0131 449 8042, e-mail RICE@iom-world.org).

Laboratories wishing to join the schemes should apply to Lucy Rix, Health and Safety Laboratory, Harpur Hill, Buxton, Derbyshire, SK17 9JN (Telephone 01298 218553, e-mail Lucy.Rix@hsl.gov.uk).

Enquiries to UKAS regarding the UKAS accreditations of individual RICE and UK MMMF scheme laboratories should be directed to Mr P R Batty, United Kingdom Accreditation Service, 21-47 High Street, Feltham, Middlesex, TW13 4UN (Telephone 020 8917 8400).

IMPORTANT: For the most up to date information on UKAS accreditations, enquiry should be made directly to UKAS, either at the above address or on their website at www.ukas.org. Note that the definitive information about the scope and details of a laboratory's current accreditations is provided on each laboratory's UKAS Schedule, also shown on the UKAS website.

RICE LABORATORY CLASSIFICATION PROCEDURES

RICE sends a batch of eight test slides to each participating laboratory in every round; the rounds take place at intervals of no more than four months. The laboratory reports its results or "counts" (i.e. the numbers of fibres per unit surface area of the samples) to RICE; then these counts are compared with predefined reference values and performance limits. Each count is placed in a performance band A, B or C, depending on its distance from the reference value, and more particularly on whether it falls within the defined limits. Performance bands A and B are considered to be satisfactory performance, while band C (outside the performance limits) indicates unsatisfactory performance.

The formal laboratory classification is assessed from results over the four most recent completed rounds. Essentially, if 75% of the counts are within performance band A, then the laboratory is classified as having "Category 1" performance in RICE. If less than 75% of the counts are within band A, but at least 75% within bands A and B combined, the laboratory is normally classified as "Category 2". Categories 1 and 2 are considered to be satisfactory performance in the scheme. If a laboratory has less than 75% of its counts in bands A and B, it is classified as having "Category 3", or unsatisfactory performance. If the laboratory has not completed four rounds, it is normally listed as awaiting classification.

Each participating laboratory receives a report each round summarising its performance in that round. For the laboratory's own guidance, it is informed which performance band applies to each count and is given the percentage of counts which fall in bands A and B. At the end of each round, each laboratory receives an individual summary report of its performance during the four most recent rounds. The formal classifications are based on these four-round figures.

Full details of classification procedures and of special provisions which may lead to revised classifications are described in the document RICE Information for Participants, which is available from IOM, and which is supplied to all RICE participating laboratories.

Typically, in recent rounds, approximately 84% of laboratories participating in RICE have been classified Category 1, 12% Category 2, 0.5% Category 3 and 4% Awaiting Classification.

Classification procedures for the UK MMMF scheme are similar to those used in RICE. UK MMMF laboratory performance classifications are not shown in this document.
